WAR OF THE SOX TO CAPTURE FLAG RAGES WITH FURY

Pitchers Will Decide Outcome of Fight Between Chicago and Boston.

By FRANK O'NEILL.

The War of the Sox for the possession of the championship is raging with unabated fury in the American League. The House of Carrigan, which has taken for its emblem the flaming hose of Red, and the House of Rowland, which swears allegiance to the White, are tearing at each other's threats. This battle of the Titans and its probable outcome hold the interest of the fans throughout the country.

When the last word has been written and the last argument on the speed of Eddie Collins and his climb in the batting averages has been refuted, when Shoeless Joe Jackson and Ray Schalk have received their credit, the outcome of that battle for the pennant will depend upon the pitchers. In the drive for the flag which is now on the Boston moundsmen are to be more feared than the boys who wear the pallid hose.

Hoston moundsmen are feared than the boys who wear the pallid hose.

Babe Ruth, the giant left-hander, who is as much to be feared at the bat as he is in the hox; Ernie Shore, Dutch Leonard, George Foster, the hero of a no-hit game, and Carl Mays are men to be reckoned with. Mays is one of the happy discoveries of the season. He was secured during the spring training period to act as sort of second string pitcher, but he has developed into a star. He has turned in a dozen victories so far, and with fifty odd games to be played has an excellent chance to bring the total up to twenty. During the early days of the season the Bosten pitchers experienced some difficulty in rounding into their best condition, but they are on their toes now, when they are most needed.

A Formidable Staff.

The law of compensation has worked by the season the Browns were the victims of a triple play, made by Buck Weaver and Jacques Fournier, of the Chicago White Sox. On August 9 they made a triple killing against the Washington Senators, Wallace to Severeid to Sisier to Wallace.

Folwell Plans To Develop Big

Team for Penn die Cicotte, Reb Russell, Blitzen Benz and Jim Scott are the men who oppose the knights of the crimson hose. Chicago's pitching staff is by no menals weak. The position of the White Sox is cloquent testimony on that score. Were Jim Scott at his best even the stanchest Boston supporter might pause still longer before he ventured the opinion that the Red Sox would win. But Scott is not at his best, and has not been at his best, and has not he he of his his season. The cold black type of the records give one little on which to base a strong argument one way or another. The pitchers are well bunched, with off Pennsylvania, does not hold to the University of Pennsylvania, does not hold to the University of

Robertson

The batting situation in the National A stern chase is a long chase, and League remains practically the same with Tris Speaker booming along in Lew McCarty is blazing the trail front, pulling away slowly but surely, pounding away at a .393 clip, while many a weary knot separates Ty Cobb Davey Robertson, the slugger of the from the leadership in the American League. Ty has advanced into second place, gaining three points on his last week's average, but Speaker made a corresponding gain, and the relative

Davey Robertson, the slugger of the Giants, is second, 58 points behind. Jake Daubert, nursing a charley-horse sat idly by and watched Rebertson slip back to within five points of him. Hans Wagner holds the pace with most of his younger rivals and is stinging the old leather at a .317 clip.

The reason for Brooklyn leading the league becomes more apparent when the batting averages are scanned. The Robins lead the league in team batting with a mark of .260, and also have an edge on their rivals in the long hits by clubs. Buck Wheat has done his full share in establishing this supremacy. The Cherokee has made sixteen doubles, six triples and four home runs. Another reason for Brooklyn being out there is Jeff Pfeffer, who has won seventeen games and lost six.
